

CASCADE EARLY MUSIC FESTIVAL
SPRING SERIES 2008

FLUTES from 6 centuries

Johann Sebastian BACH

Jeffrey Cohan

13 transverse flutes

from the renaissance through the present

Jeffrey Cohan

baroque flute

George Shangrow

harpsichord

Telemann, Bach, Van Eyck, Kuhlau, and others including several flutist-composers and unpublished works from the Library of Congress will be performed on antique transverse flutes and replicas made in Boston, Seattle, Innsbruck and Florence, of all sizes and nationalities, including one made in London during the lifetime of Beethoven and old-system flute owned by the original first flutist of the Seattle Symphony.

Johann Sebastian Bach! ... The Cohan-Shangrow Duo "give new meaning to the intimacy implicit in the genre of chamber music. They have forged not only an exquisitely subtle collaboration but also a common scholarly interpretation of how Bach would have had the music performed. The music [Bach] produced was exuberant, joyous and lyrical. It was these qualities that Cohan and Shangrow communicated..."

- Joan Reintaler, THE WASHINGTON POST 2002

☞ March 2 in Bellingham ☞

☞ March 9 in Leavenworth ☞

☞ April 13 in Bellingham ☞

☞ April 20 in Leavenworth ☞

All Four Sunday afternoons at 4:00 PM
St. Paul's Episcopal Church • 2117 Walnut Street in Bellingham
Faith Lutheran Church • 224 Benton in Leavenworth

❖ suggested donation (a free-will offering): $15 ❖
~ youth 18 and under are FREE! ~

www.cemf.org
(800) 281-8026